

The Wife

situation when you literally put in less than half the amount of hours I do towards it and I don't even resent you for it like thats the thing, you resent me when in your mind I'm not doing 50% of the chores but I'm working more then double the amount of time you are u resent me but I don't resent you

When this is all said and done, it's paid off were in the clear I wouldn't resent you for it I would just be happy it's behind us

But you would resent me that I wasn't doing the 50 percent during that time period

Can you put 20 in the joint account so I can get to work and I'll pay u back

When are you going to pay me back. You should have asked about your paycheque on Saturday. No money has been deposited.

Literally as soon as I can

I don't have any money to give you. You already took money that wasn't yours last week. Did not provide a receipt. I don't have more. I have to pay for all the bills.

So what are we doing
